WORLD CONCERN

Teen's work, donors make difference

Thank you for profiling the work of 18-year-old Megan Edmonds of Arlington. (Nov. 9 article, "Teen sets up auction to bring water to thirsty.") She held a very successful auction Sunday night to raise money for water wells in Africa. Megan aimed to raise $1,400, but in fact raised $7,000 for Christian relief and development agency World Concern. That's enough money to build five water wells.

One in six people on Earth do not have access to clean water, a dilemma that leads to a multitude of diseases and societal conflicts. The donations of the Arlington community have enabled five villages to have a chance at good health, greatly improving the lives of thousands of people. The Herald's story helped get the word out. If anyone would like to find out more about how to donate, visit worldconcern.org/ggg.
